SAN DIEGO HISTORICAL SOCIETY QUARTERLY

Vol. I JANUARY 1955 No. 1

OUR OWN "EDITORIAL"

WITH THIS ISSUE, the Quarterly has returned to its initial home. To those who may be surprised to find it here, we say: it has come about without—almost without—our planning, sweat and tears.

IN THE PAST there have been many attempts to publish the Quarterly. It was first published at Presidio Hill. From time to time it has been published in various forms—appropriate—letterpress, mimeograph, and so on. It is a stark truth in that statement that there was talk about it.

IT WAS THE GATHERING of representatives of the state's various historical societies at Columbia, California, in 1954, that breathed life into the project. Meeting at the Mother Lode country, the delegates of the Conference of California Historical Societies and their representatives discussed the problems of historical societies and the need for a more formal—and more appropriate—letterpress publication. To many, the discussion of the problems of historical societies was a highlight of the conference. Some of them smaller—and younger—than our own, but with small but highly creditable big behind others of smaller area, intimately less population—and, shall we say, less seniority in the matter of county status.

THE ANSWER, OF COURSE, IS NEGATIVE—at least it will be if the members of the society will produce, on paper, those valuable bits of the region's history and lore which we know that they possess. Even more difficult than securing financial support—which is hard enough—is the task of getting editorial contributions from members. But we intend to meet the task and overcome it. A publication of this type belongs to the members at large and not to its staff, and we propose to fill it with material primarily of member origin. We intend to use illustrations to as great an extent as is practicable, and to make of the Quarterly something which will not be just another pamphlet. If we succeed it will be to the individual members.
